

REBECCA FLEETWOOD HESSION

Author - Speaker - Thrive Guide

Rebecca is an extremely talented individual.

She is a great mentor and coach and is always looking for the "team win" versus being the superstar.

Todd Davis, Chief People Officer for FranklinCovey

Rebecca has over two decades of experience working in leadership, team building, and consultative selling. She has a track record of success earning President's Club for 15 years with the Franklin Covey Co. as well as the Principle Centered Leadership Award. Her client work is featured in the best selling book, The 4 Disciplines of Execution. She was chosen to perform an original piece for the Listen to Your Mother show and her TEDx talk has been viewed more than 100K times. Her blog has nearly one million views.

What an inspiration Rebecca is to work with and learn from. She brings so much energy and passion to her conversations and has the ability to challenge others to bring their energy and passion into their work. Rebecca is incredibly talented. I'm thrilled to have had the chance to learn from such an authentic and inspirational person.
